

Summer of Connection

Join Newberry's PAC for a 2 hour workshop to build parenting tools for connection and accountability.

May 30, 2018 • 6:00pm – 8:00pm

In last night's session, I learned tools that made such a difference. When I shared the connection tool with my daughter, I could see her eyes and heart open for further conversation. Ruth S., CPS Parent

Are you a parent managing children who ...

- Have temper tantrums
- Don't listen
- Are "strong willed"
- Lack motivation
- Dawdle in the morning
- Whine
- Battle over homework
- Feel entitled
- Don't want to go to bed at night (or won't stay in their own beds)

And want children to develop:

- Self-discipline
- Responsibility
- Resiliency
- Problem-solving skills
- Accountability
- Honesty
- Self-confidence
- Kindness
- Social Consciousness
- Self-motivation

Topics

This engaging evening will provide participants with many immediately useful tools, deeply respectful so that time with children is encouraging.

Experiential learning helps build deeper understanding of an authoritative parenting style, building connection and accountability with our kids.
